

The Investigation at Prospect Place

On October 17th & 18th the EDPI team investigated one of the most active haunted locations in Ohio, Prospect Place, the former home of business man and abolitionist, George W. Adams. We were joined by four members of the Ohio Truth Hunters team. We had the house from 7 pm until 7 am. It was quite a night. The EDPI team took hundreds of photographs of both the inside and outside of the house and barn, and we captured the most photographic evidence that we ever had before at any other haunted location we have investigated. Our KII, Mel and Gauss meters were relatively quiet considering the amount of activity we felt and photographed.

The brick horse barn is a hot spot on the property, probably due to the fact that a slave bounty hunter who came to the house looking for escaped slaves was hung from the second floor there in the mid 1800s. The photo below shows where he was hung.

We captured many different anomalies at this location. This is a golden orb, and if you study the enlargement you might see a face. ←

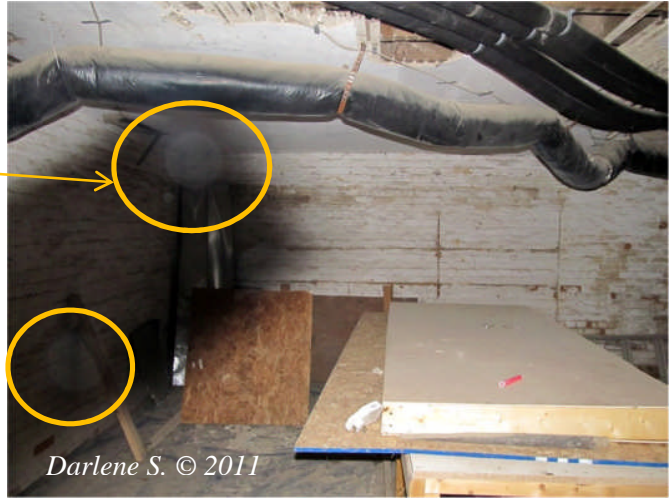

The photo at right shows another orb, this time white taken by the same camera only seconds later. →

The Basement was another hot spot. This is where they hid the slaves when the house was being used as an Under-ground Railroad station.

Not sure what this green glowing mass is in the green room. It sure is interesting though. The green room on the second floor is another hot spot in the house.

Left: This photo was taken in the "Gift Shop" It faces the back yard and woods... once again, not sure what it is, but it is interesting.

Below: Rare Red orb (along with many others) taken in the third floor ballroom, which is probably the most active area in the house.

We were on the third floor in the ball room many times during the night. This was taken after Darlene and Donna felt a presence behind them. Darlene took a photo and this is what appeared. We also heard the distinct sound of rain hitting the room for several minutes while we were up there the first time, however, when we went back to the first floor we discovered that it had not rained... the cars and ground was perfectly dry. Strange. My temperature gauge also went up to 82 degrees in this area, but it still felt like 60.

This is one of the most remarkable orb photographs I have ever seen. There is no doubt that this is a ball of energy. This was also taken in the ballroom and was not seen by anyone present.

Our Conclusion: There is a great deal of paranormal activity at this location; however, we did not experience any negative energy.
